

HOW TO RAISE ASTERS

ADDRESS TO SCHOOL CHILDREN OF GLENDALE BY MRS.
NANNO WOODS

The president of the Glendale Garden society addressed the pupils of the Columbus Avenue school last Tuesday on how to raise asters. She spoke to the Third Street school assembly on Wednesday on the same subject. That adults and children alike may receive information upon this charming phase of gardening, the following instructions are given. The aster has leaped into great prominence both for its beauty and its commercial value. It is easy of culture; Mrs. Woods advises it as a specially good flower for young people to raise, because it requires liberal, daily irrigating during the month of July, the very time that children are out of school and have nothing else particularly to do. It blooms late in July and all during August, so that boys and girls growing it for commercial purposes have ample opportunity for marketing their blossoms.

The aster will do well in any ordinary soil, light or heavy. A strong loam, well supplied with organic matter and plant food, makes the ideal soil. To sow the seed, prepare a seed box, or a small portion of ground thoroughly dug up and smoothed over; the soil should be sandy, and not fertilized. The sand found in gutters, deposited there by rains, can easily be taken and used. Make the surface of the soil flat and even by patting it down with a piece of board. Sprinkle the seeds lightly over the bed, and cover them about one-eighth of an inch; shade with a lath frame or cloth for two or three weeks, and be sure to keep the ground constantly moist. A word as to the watering of these or any other seeds: Do not use the hose, but sprinkle with a fine sprinkler, from a watering pot; for if the water descends with force, the seeds will either be driven into the ground or washed away. Do not water late in the day; if you do the tiny seedlings may mildew, and all your trouble will go for nothing.

When the plants have made four to six leaves, they are old enough to be pricked off into boxes or beds about 2 inches apart from each other. This is done to give them room. By keeping them together, instead of planting them at once into rows, they can be more easily handled and irrigated. When the plants are good and strong, then you may bed them out where they are to bloom. A circular bed of asters is a beautiful sight. For convenience of watering, however, it is better to arrange them in straight rows, so that the water can be run between the rows.

In order to obtain fine blooms for exhibition or commercial purposes, the plants must have an abundance of plant food and moisture. To secure extra large flowers and long stems, asters should be disbudded. As soon as the plants begin to branch, pinch out the center bud, allow about six of the side branches to grow, so giving entire strength to half a dozen flowers. But if the flowers are grown just for one's own pleasure, it is not necessary to disbud them so drastically; merely pinch out the top bud, as you would do with antirrhinum (snapdragon).

As to the kind of seed to use, Giant Branching Asters are generally considered the best; certainly they do splendidly in and around Los Angeles and suburbs. The pink shades are always beautiful. Then there is a lovely lilac color, also a purple sometimes called "Elks' purple;" for Elks' festive occasions nothing could be more appropriate—shades of lilac and purple are also favorites for funeral wreaths. For bridal occasions the white is unsurpassed. Get any good florist's catalogue and look up the varieties and pictures of asters; it will occupy you pleasantly a whole evening.

Seeds should be sown right away. If you have neighbors too lazy or too much otherwise occupied to give time to the raising of seeds now is your opportunity. Get good seeds from a reliable house, sow and care for them according to directions, prick them out, and when they are hardy, sturdy little plants you can sell them at about 25 cents per dozen to your neighbors. Giant branching aster seeds, in any color, or in mixed colors, can be had for 10 cents per package. Be absolutely sure, no matter what else you do or don't do, to give your asters plenty of water. Remember, they are thirsty creatures and must have their regular drinks; if you give them all the water they need they will amply repay you for your kindness.—NANNO WOODS, President Glendale Garden Society.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Friday; east winds.

TEST OF PRESSURE

GLENDALE FIRE DEPARTMENT
FINDS HIGHEST PRESSURE IN CITY MAINS 71 POUNDS

Municipal preparedness has no more important feature than that of adequate protection against fire. Every now and then we read of some unprotected town being practically wiped off the map by a fire that started just when the wind was favorable for its development. Time and again it has been pointed out that Glendale is really without adequate fire protection; but when the proposal to purchase an engine that would be sufficient to give the pressure needed the voters turned it down.

In very few cities of any consequence is reliance for protection from fire placed entirely on chemical engines. In the greater part of the cities adequate equipment has been secured. In some cities, however, 75 per cent or more of the actual working fires are controlled by chemical streams. In a large percentage of the fires in those cities the protection afforded consists in protecting the neighboring buildings and allowing the building in which the fire occurred to burn itself out.

These conditions are bad enough; but it is really quite serious to learn that the water pressure in the city is not adequate. If the city had a pumping engine it would be independent of that element. It has no such equipment and the houses of the citizens in many parts of the city are entirely without fire protection of an adequate nature.

In the testing practice of the Glendale fire department, which was held Wednesday, it was discovered that the highest pressure at any point in the city mains was 71 pounds. It is possible that this pressure might throw a jet of water as high as the second story of a Glendale building, but that is all it could do. That pressure was found at Central and Ninth. At other points tested the pressure was somewhere about 21 pounds and out at Second and Sinclair avenue the pressure was only five pounds.

It is held by all competent authorities that no pressure for fire fighting purposes should ever fall below 100 pounds. How inadequate the present pressure is can be seen. As a matter of fact the greater part of the city is without adequate fire protection and those who did not vote for a pumping engine at last election can have nothing to say on the subject by way of criticism.

Fortunately for Glendale, there are very few fires. A destructive fire that will catch the city unprepared is like some sins in the world. If they are once committed, they will never happen again. The season having been unusually wet has kept down the percentage of fire during the past few months.

In January there was one fire. That was at 1505 Hawthorne street, the residence of M. M. Bitz. This was a small affair caused by the overflowing of oil from an oil heater. It was easily extinguished. The next was on Feb. 12, at 600 W. Seventh, the home of J. T. Flinn. This fire was in an outhouse and was caused by children playing with matches. The shed was burned down. The third fire occurred on Feb. 20 at E. Acacia. It was a brush fire and was easily extinguished. It may be difficult with such a record to get the citizens interested in the inadequate pressure and the lack of a pumping engine; but there is food here for grave reflection.

SUCCESS OF AL JENNINGS

Al Jennings, the well-known stage robber, who reformed and battled his way back to a respectable life, and who on a visit to Glendale was converted in the First Baptist church here, under the ministry of the Rev. John H. Troy, has returned to Oklahoma, the scene of many episodes of his earlier life. Since his conversion Jennings has been doing evangelical work in the East and in Canada. Everywhere he has been well received and has been instrumental in bringing many to Christ. Sunday, Feb. 13, he preached in the First Baptist church of Oklahoma city and was accorded a most remarkable greeting by his fellow townsmen. The scenes when the people rushed up to shake him by the hand and assure him of their sympathy with his changed life and his gospel preaching were remarkable. Jennings is not a "Billy Sunday." His evangelical talks are quiet and impressive. He speaks out of a fullness of knowledge of all the guilt of sin and the burden thereof. Sunday night letters of transfer of church membership will be granted to Mr. and Mrs. Jennings from the First Baptist church of Glendale to the First Baptist church of Oklahoma.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, Feb. 24.—Captured by raiders from the German cruiser Moewe the British merchantman Westburn was scuttled by her prize crew, off the Canary islands. The Westburn was one of the vessels recently captured by the raiders who put a crew on board with instructions to take the vessel into the Canary Islands. TROOPS OF REPUBLIC FORCED OUT OF BRABANT AND CAURES WOODS AFTER HEAVY FIGHTING

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

The Germans sent in two divisions against the small number of French who were holding the Caures woods and that position was lost. The fighting was very severe and the slaughter immense. A terrific artillery duel is now raging between the French and Teuton artillery. The French artillery is better served and does more execution. The fighting extends along a front of twenty-five miles; but the important attack is on a front of eight miles that screens the fortress of Verdun. French aeroplanes today raided the German frontier fortress of Metz and did much damage, setting fire to the gas plant.

MUSIC DAY

MEMBERS OF TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB AND GUESTS HEAR SIGNOR BUZZI

A large and appreciative audience greeted Signor Pietro Buzzi, lyric tenor, in a musical program presented by him before the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon club, at Masonic hall on Tuesday. The music session, of which Mrs. E. W. Kinney is curator, was in charge of the program for the day. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion with vases of acacia, and a profusion of flags in honor of the national holiday. A large picture of George Washington artistically draped with flags occupied the center of the stage. Each guest received a printed program adorned with a tiny flag.

Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, president of the club, introduced the entertainer of the afternoon. Signor Buzzi is an Italian by birth, and is well known throughout the musical world. He has appeared with Madame Patti and other famous singers, but for the past ten years has called Los Angeles home, and there has a studio. Signor Buzzi presented Miss Adele Levy, Miss Elea Cohn, and Mr. E. J. Dill in a delightful musical of grand opera selections and English ballads, with Miss Ardis Blanch Olds, accompanist.

At the close of the program the audience arose and led by the artist of the afternoon, sang our beloved national hymn. Adjourning for the social hour, hot scones, which were topped with tiny flags, and coffee were served by the February chairman of hospitality, Mrs. George Adams, and her assistants.

During the business session of the club, which preceded the program, Mrs. Helen Campbell was announced as the winner in the parliamentary contest, conducted on Tuesday by Mrs. I. W. Gleason, District Chairman of Parliamentary usage. Mrs. Campbell will represent the club at the district convention to be held in Hollywood in March, and great confidence is expressed in her ability to return to the Tuesday Afternoon club the banner which was won last year for supremacy in the district parliamentary contest. Mrs. W. E. Evans, second in the contest, will be Mrs. Campbell's alternate.

Mrs. Bartlett announced the appointment of Mrs. S. C. Packer as treasurer of the club, to supply the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Warren Roberts, who has so splendidly served the club as treasurer for the past three years. Unexpected duties devolving upon her in another organization necessitated Mrs. Roberts' resignation, which was accepted with deep regret. The board is to be congratulated on securing Mrs. Packer, a fine and capable woman, as the new treasurer of the club.

Mrs. H. Lee Clotworthy gave a splendid report of the Eagle Rock Reciprocity day.

Important events in the club calendar in the near future are: An invitation to club members and friends was extended by Mrs. Bartlett, president of the club, for a jollification at her home March 30, from 3 to 5 p. m. A feature of this celebration will be the burning of the last mortgage on the club lot. Members who have not already done so, are urged to hand in their pledges to Mrs. Daniel Campbell at their earliest convenience.

The picnic to the members and guests of the Literary section will be held Tuesday, Feb. 29, at Verdugo Park, and will be a large and enthusiastic affair. Mrs. C. E. Anderson is chairman of refreshments. Mrs. C. E. Harlan, Curator of the section, requests the ladies to take the 11:55 a. m. Glendale-Montrose car.

The lecture to be given by Mrs. Charles Wiley, Monday evening, Feb. 29, at the High School auditorium, is a fine number of the free course of entertainments being given by the board of the Tuesday Afternoon club to the public. Mrs. Wiley is an interesting speaker, and has chosen for her subject, "Conservation of Forests." The lecture will be illustrated with fine stereopticon slides.

THE GROWTH OF GLENDALE UNION HIGH SCHOOL

To write the history of the Glendale Union High School would be to make a record of continued and rapid growth. It would show the school organizing and doing its work for a year and a half in temporary quarters, then settling down for a period of six and a half years in its first home—a seven-room frame building on Broadway and Brand. There would follow the record of a change from these crowded quarters to the present site and of the erection of our administration building, which at the time of its completion contained the highest type of school equipment. After a short interval of five years another important expansion was necessary. The site was again enlarged and two fine buildings were erected which offered the means of furnishing the best in the newest educational development, that of vocational training.

The growth of the school shows a surprising development. In 1908-1909, the last year on the Broadway site, the average attendance was 118. Last year the average attendance was 369, a gain of over 210%. In comparing the growth during this time with that of other schools in the county it is shown that our gain is 20% greater than that of our nearest competitor, and very far ahead of that of the majority of the schools. At the present time our total enrollment is a little above the 600 mark, a gain of 160 above the total enrollment at the corresponding time last year.

This unusual increase in enrollment is a splendid tribute to the school, for it shows that the work offered fills the needs of the communities served. In addition to the usual entrants from eighth grade, we have former students who dropped out because they did not think the education offered was worth while for them. By experience they have learned that they must have the best preparation possible, and they now find in the school that which fits their personal needs. We have former graduates who were not able to get all the different lines of work they wished during their undergraduate course. We have also a group of students beyond the usual school age who are taking advantage of the courses offered for the sake of personal culture or for preparation for some delayed life plan.

The enrollment of these older students and the general appreciation among those in attendance are convincing proofs that the school is working along the right lines. It is the purpose of the school to lay out its work along such broad lines that each young person may find therein that which will best prepare him for his chosen life work. A school supported by the taxes of the people is undemocratic and not filling its rightful province if it does not furnish all students in its district with equal opportunity to study those subjects best fitted to their own native ability and needs. Many young people of excellent ability in certain lines of vocational work have left the school in the past and abandoned the idea of study because the school was able to offer only college preparatory studies. This condition was manifestly unfair to those students. It is now a source of gratification that these conditions have been changed by the addition of practical courses in preparation for business, in commercial and mechanical drawing, in sewing and millinery, cooking and care of the home, woodwork, forge and machine shop. In these new departments the instruction given is of the same high order as in the old line subjects.

The school is now able to show the effectiveness of its work by the success of its graduates in their various occupations.

In its preparation for college and for professional work the school has for years held one of the highest places. Our recommended graduates are accepted without examination or other reservation by the greatest universities of the coast and by all eastern institutions to which our graduates have applied for entrance. This high position has been steadily maintained by the uniformly high quality of work our graduates have done in these advanced schools. We now have graduates of Glendale who have finished their professional work in technical schools and are winning laurels in medicine, law and engineering. Some have taken university courses and are now giving satisfactory service as successful high school teachers. Our students who have taken normal work are splendidly demonstrating the adequacy of their training by successful work in the grammar schools of Tropic, Glendale and Crescenta. Graduates of our school who have specialized in the department of music are doing splendidly in their later work. Those who have entered normal to prepare for a position as teacher of school music have found not only that they could easily meet all normal entrance requirements, but also that they could with ease fulfill any of the rigid demands of the normal course.

The students in the Art department have opportunity to study along varied lines. The work offered consists of the fundamentals of free-hand drawing, commercial art for magazine reproduction, design with applications to various crafts and mechanical and architectural drawing which offer full preparations for profitable positions in drafting.

The departments of mechanical and household arts are proving very satisfactory. Returns from these departments are more rapid than from others where the high school course needs to be followed by years of college study. Our teachers have visited in the pleasant, well kept homes of some of our graduates, where perhaps the hostess in speaking of some pleasing dish served during the meal, said, "Do you know when I learned to make that? It was in the cooking class of the Glendale High." The work in sewing has been very popular and profitable. Many girls who found sewing irksome at home have enjoyed the work and made splendid progress under the stimulus of the social element and competition of class work. Beginning with simple work, they have learned how to do their own sewing. They have made inexpensive school dresses and more difficult tailored suits and graduation gowns. They have studied millinery and learned to make and trim their own hats. Several of our graduates who took two years or more in this department have entered into business along these lines.

It is always very hard for the practically inclined boy to spend several years in high school when other boys of his acquaintance outside of school are earning wages. For these boys the wood and metal working departments are a great boon. Many a boy with a love for building things would not remain in school if he could not get the chance to work along the lines of his special aptitudes. For the sake of the splendid opportunities in the shops he will tolerate the less interesting work in English or mathematics. When he finishes the course he has general education enough to enable him to continue to grow in his profession and earn promotion, and also sufficient technical training to enable him to go out and earn the wages of a good workman in his special line. The woodwork gives the elements of accurate work in joinery, cabinet work, and lathe work, together with the training in handling the commercial shop. The boy interested in metals may have a year's work in forging, followed by a year or more in a machine shop equipped with the standard lathes and machines of the modern repair shop or manufacturing plant. He has practice on all these machines and becomes familiar with their operation. He is given practical work to do, perhaps repair work on automobiles and the making of some new parts needed in these repairs. At graduation he goes out with a general high school education and a special training which makes him a workman able to command good wages and in line for advancement.

The commercial department is also given to vocational work. The graduates who have studied in this department have gone out to fill remunerative positions. The permanency of these positions and the promotions from time to time testify to the quality of their preparation for their work. With the addition this year of another instructor in this department and with the definite plan to increase the quantity and improve the quality of the work offered by giving more of it in the upper classes, the result of the training given must be more satisfactory. We invite the attention of the business men to this department and ask their cooperation in promoting the interests of the young people.

The work along vocational lines and in athletics is more spectacular than that in the regular academic courses and is more easily presented as a matter of general interest. This fuller presentation of the vocational work, however, does not mean that it is replacing the old line work. It is supplementing it. Each student is required to take three years of English, two years of mathematics, two years of a foreign language, one year of science, one year of U. S. history and civics and some music or drawing. This gives the general foundation for his education. For the remainder of his work he may choose, with the approval of his teacher and his parents, whatever subjects he wishes. We recognize the great importance of sustained study and training along the line of the student's natural aptitudes. We believe that the school is preparing for a position as teacher of school

I have the privilege to secure for some one 320 acres of land with water stock that is absolutely what I consider the choicest home site in California. I know this land thoroughly and will stake my reputation on its value and quality. Don't understate the value because the price for both land and water stock is but $10 per acre. If you have even contemplated the freedom and independence of a ranch, this is the opportunity of a life time. This land can be had on partial payments. W. R. LECTURE ON "DANIEL"

Large audiences are greeting the lectures of the Rev. Leon Tucker at the First Baptist church. At the afternoon lecture "Wednesday" Mr. Tucker lectured on "Matthew" to an audience that packed the lecture room, while many were able to get standing room only. The evening lecture on "Ruth" was well attended, the church being comfortably filled. This evening will be the last opportunity the people of Glendale will have to hear this illuminating lecturer. His lecture tonight will be on "Daniel" and should prove of profound interest in these days of trial when so many fill the people's ears with fanciful interpretations of prophecy. Mr. Tucker is a man of profound knowledge of the Scriptures and his skill in elucidating difficult passages is remarkable. Everyone who is interested in biblical knowledge should hear him.

BUSINESS WINDOW DECORATION

Among the latest firms to join the window decoration plan suggested by the Garden society is the firm of Moore & Stoddard. This enterprising real estate firm has adorned its window with a beautiful box of geraniums. The box, it is true, is not very large, being about 6x6 inches; but the real spirit is there. When Mr. Stoddard returns home from his present journey he will doubtless be the first to recognize the progressive spirit which has animated the firm during his absence.

SURPRISE MANY FRIENDS

Without the slightest ostentation and completely surprising her legion of friends, for the wedding was to have been a June event, Miss Emma Bennett and Ernest William Bennett of Phoenix, Arizona, quietly plighted their troth at the Hymeneal altar yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Kathryn Bennett, 128 North Kenwood avenue. Piano and violin numbers were given by the little Misses Avis and Lucile Thompson, vocal solo by Rev. Henry and Dr. Julius Soper of Casa Verdugo gave a well chosen address.

The smartest affair of the week took place at her attractive home, 119 South Brand boulevard, Mrs. Pearl S. Keller giving a most delightful dancing party, Tuesday evening, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Ida McKittrick, and brother, Mr. Jack McKittrick. Canopied with two large National ensigns and festoons of red, white and blue ribbons, caught at the corners and side walls of the room, intermingled with feathery ferns and a floral decoration of red carnations, were used artistically in the spacious living room where the Hosking-Bonhant orchestra dispensed captivating music for the devotees of the terpsichorean diversion. Clever favors were presented throughout the evening of pleasure, and during the dance number intermissions, wee Miss Merna Kahler (7 years old) read most cleverly "Lasca" and responded with an encore, giving Irene Franklin's great hit, "His Little Brother." Mr. Dick Sylvia, well-known as a clever dancing and singing entertainer gave delightful selections while Mr. Charlie Downs greatly pleased with his eccentric dance numbers. Mr. Jack McKittrick, host for the evening, displayed his excellent ability and sweet tenor voice, as a singer, in two negro songs.

The dining room decorations were exquisite in the national colors. The large round table from which an elaborate buffet supper was served at midnight had as centerpiece a cascade of red, white and blue full blown petunias with fern fronds. The same color scheme predominated in the supper menu, confections and cakes.

Bidden guests for the evening included Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lovington of Hollywood, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Joy, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. THE GROWTH OF GLENDALE UNION HIGH SCHOOL

lieve that by so doing we shall have in the school a company of young people working along the chosen lines of their personal abilities and interests, happy in the work and giving honest effort toward their own advancement as a return for the investment made by parents in furnishing such school facilities. This tends to develop a sane and safe outlook on life. We recognize the fact that the education worth while must uphold good morals, develop sterling character, inculcate respect for authority, teach the responsibility of the individual for the public welfare, and insure his co-operation in all matters promoting good citizenship.

Thus we are striving toward the ideal of a school established by the people and for the people.

WISCONSIN GUESTS

Mrs. Mary Kinne and her daughter, Miss Blanche Kinne, and Mr. Williams, all of Elkhorn, Wis., were guests of honor at a charming dinner party given on Washington's birthday, at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Field and Miss Bessie L. Field. Mrs. Kinne is Mr. Field's cousin. The Kinnes and Mr. Williams are touring in California and will leave this section of the country again for Wisconsin, April 5, traveling by the Northern Pacific. Miss Kinne is superintendent of schools in Elkhorn, Wis.

Covers were laid for ten and a five-course dinner was served. The house was tastefully and appropriately adorned with calla lilies and ferns and draped everywhere with American flags. The dining room was tastefully decked in red, white and blue. Large American flags were everywhere. The table was adorned with large cut-glass bowls of red and white carnations, Washington hatchets and other patriotic symbols were distributed here and there on the table. Small American flags served as favors. After dinner games and music were enjoyed. The guests were Mrs. Mary E. Kinne, Miss Blanche Kinne, Mr. Williams, Principal Geo. U. Moyses, and Mrs. Moyses, Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Weaver.

PICKED UP AT THE IOWA PICNIC

Glendale was well represented in the remarkable gathering at the Hawkeye picnic Monday and the unanimous verdict of good looks accorded by all other states to Iowa was not in the least endangered thereby.

Notwithstanding the presence of Senator Cummins and his well-known candidate for the presidency, a well organized force was on the ground putting in some good work for La Follette of Wisconsin.

Not much attention is given to the speech-making features of an Iowa picnic. It would be difficult to address a column of humanity variable in width, serpentine in shape, nearly a mile in length and constantly on the move. The officials get in a platform pen and with the aid of Parsons keep up a line of officers.

Sing—We never had a president, Iowa, Oh, Iowa. With modest officers content, Iowa, oh, Iowa. We've men around us everywhere, able to fill the White House chair, And one now Cummin (s) may get there, Iowa, oh, Iowa.

The reputation of Iowans for truthfulness precludes the possibility of any Hawkeye being official reporter for the attendance at an Iowa picnic, and yet after the unregenerate ananias reporters, post the exaggerated figures. None of the Old Deacons have moral stamina enough to dispute the count.

It was pleasant to notice that there was a general disposition all around to divide lunch with the transient and homeless tourist, who had no home from which to bring a basket. Many of this class were generously provided for.

The day was ideal, the crowd well dressed, well behaved, good looking, cheerful and happy—the babies the prettiest ever seen—and everybody blessed with one had it on parade.

OF INTEREST TO AUTO DRIVERS

If every man were as courteous in his driving as he is in his ordinary living, then driving would be a greater pleasure, would be safer, there would be fewer repair bills, less sentiment against motorists, less need of stringent laws and fewer accidents.

Courtesy first means safety first. Think of the golden rule and you have it.

If you believe in courtesy then join this movement, practice the golden rule when driving, and preach the doctrine to your friends.

Be courteous when you have a desire to speed. Remember the other fellows you are passing have just as much right to break the law as you have. Think of the sentiment you are creating against them by your mania. Think of the accidents that may happen by your hitting some other driver coming in from a side street or pedestrian who does not see you coming.

Think of the people in your own car, perhaps, who have a fear of speeding and are trying to be game and not let you know it. It is not sport to drive fast in the city; it is the most rank discourtesy to your fellow motorists and fellow citizens.

When a pedestrian sees you coming and deliberately pays no attention to you, remember that some are mentally deficient and you cannot tell them from the clothes they wear. When you see a child on a curb, slow up. Remember the child can start quicker than you can stop.

Do not open your cutout on the streets during the day. Remember there are many sick people and people on their deathbeds, whom such a sound greatly disturbs.

Do not open your cutout at night for you probably remember some night you were disturbed when trying to sleep by some fool, whose greatest claim to fame was his noise.

Remember that your horn is just a few times worse than your cutout.

Be courteous to police officials and they will more than repay it. And if you feel like swearing at the ordinances, or if you do not like the traffic arrangements remember that perhaps you may be wrong.

Be courteous. First, do not hog the middle of the street. Give the other fellow room to go by when he attempts to pass you; do not speed up and perhaps crowd him into a safety zone.

Keep out of the safety zones. They are for the pedestrians. It is up to you to make them safe.

When a fellow comes in from a side street give him room to turn the corner; do not crowd. When you park behind another car remember perhaps he wishes to leave before you do; give him room to get out, don't crowd. When you expect to stop or turn do not keep your intentions secret, think of the fellow behind.

Do not presume too much when you have the right of way. Perhaps the other fellow does not know it.

Do not cut in front of a street car. Remember the motorman is human and most of them will learn all the courtesy you will teach them.

When you get the go signal from a traffic officer, remember to give the pedestrians time to get out of the way.

When you see people on the curb trying to reach a car or vice versa, slow up, stop if necessary, but let them cross without danger. This is one of the greatest courtesies that will pay the motoring public best.

When a pedestrian does not or will not pay any attention to your horn it is well to remember that the deaf, hundreds of them, use the streets as well as you.

Courtesy in motor driving is the recognition of the rights of all others—either motorist or pedestrian. It is that and more, it is the willingness to yield certain recognized rights of your own.

BEACH LINES ON LAKE TAHOE

The statement sometimes made that "Tahoe is an old volcanic crater" is not true. The region about the lake shows evidences of volcanic activity of various kinds, and the lake waters themselves have probably been dammed at times by outpourings of lava. A lava flow appears to have temporarily filled the outlet channel below Tahoe City, Cal. The lake, however, lies in a structural depression—a dropped block of the earth's crust.

During the Neocene epoch and the earlier part of the Pleistocene epoch the waters of Lake Tahoe stood much higher than now, probably on account of lava dams which have since been cut through. Distinct beaches that mark former higher levels are found up to about 100 feet above the present lake, but it is believed that the waters formerly rose to still greater heights. At Tahoe City the most distinct of these old beaches is a terrace 35 to 40 feet above the level of the lake, and it is this terrace that makes the level ground on which Tahoe Tavern is built.

A CHEERFUL COMPROMISE

*A YOUNG couple was engaged to be married. "Mabel, there is something I ought to tell you about myself," said Tom soberly, as they were strolling in the moon-light.

"What is it, Tom?" asked the girl. "Well, Mabel—I hate to tell you, but I don't think I would be doing right not to," and he glanced anxiously at the pale face of his promised bride. "The fact is," he continued hesitatingly, "Mabel—I am a somnambulist."

"Never mind, Tom," cheerfully replied the girl, "I am a Congregationalist, but we'll go to your church one Sunday and mine the next."

ORANGE COVE

Everywhere in Hansen Heights is seen the flutter of white wings, heard the droll singing of the "intending" pullet and the triumphant cackle of the productive one. This community seems to be ideally located for chicken raising, judging from the number of men and women too, who are making a success of it and by others who are just beginning. Among these are Mr. and Mrs. Denison. They, however, expect to eliminate the most trying part of the business by buying three months' old birds.

Mrs. Fred Hawkins of Orange Cove had some of her "children" home for the week-end. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hawkins, Jr., and little son Jack; Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Hawkins, and Miss Jessie Hawkins.

It is reported that the Universal Moving Picture Co. has secured an option on a site for a studio in the vicinity of Brand's canyon.

Burbank High Wins Ball Game
Tuesday afternoon was a big day for Burbank High School's baseball team. The home boys won their first game of the season from the San Fernando High nine by a score of 11-0.

All decked out in their new uniforms, the Burbank players proved their worth in slamming the ball to all corners of the field. What they didn't do to the alleged San Fernando box artist needn't be mentioned. Here are the players making up Burbank's all-star squad:
Edgerly and Crawford, catchers; Thompson and Trout, pitchers; Shelton, first base; Muller, second base; Davenport, third base; Barager, short stop; Story, right field; Thedaker, center field, and Malone, left field.

Both sides tried out a pair of embryo Benders, but Burbank's were the best pair, hence home talent copped every thing in sight.

The first inning Burbank High put the game away in cold storage with 4 runs to nothing and that's all Fernando ever got, while Burbank kept adding up a few scores every few innings. Several future stars were discovered by one of the Angel scouts but whether they will stick to the shining business or were merely failing stars is to be seen. Some tall poing stunts were pulled off by the clean-up men. This is one of the important berths to fill in the batting list and at least a half dozen candidates made good 3 baggers, bingles and two-base hits. The returns are not all in at this writing but the score was: Burbank, 11; San Fernando, 0.

Umpires for the occasion were Earl Dufur, Homer Davis and Charles Fisher. Dopesters have it that the Burbank nine will win the pennant in the county league this year.

Miss Squires of the music department of the High School announces a recital for Thursday evening of next week. Piano and vocal selections will feature the evening's program. High School patrons are cordially invited to attend.

This Friday afternoon at 2:30 is the time when the students and townspeople will hear of and see the charm of the desert, the Grand Canyon of Arizona, the Indians of the terraced houses. It is a unique and fascinating lecture giving the history of the strange people, the Pueblos, the country in which they live, their strange habits, life, dress, manners and customs, and their elaborate and impressive religious ceremonies. This lecture will be a revelation to all who are interested in the development of culture, and in the laws and religion of early man.

City Trustees' Meeting

The weekly meeting of the Burbank city "dads" was held Wednesday afternoon at 2 p. m. instead of on Tuesday, as Tuesday was a legal holiday. Trustees Blanchard, Kline, Hogle and Craig answered to the roll call, Forbes being absent. Minutes of last meeting read by City Clerk Peyton, approved and ordered filed.

A number of matters were informally discussed, among them being some street work, the closing of an alley adjacent to 12 lots owned by the Grammar school. Upon this matter a petition of protest was read by Mr. Pollock in behalf of property owners interested. The matter was finally referred to City Attorney Watkins.

Bids were received and opened for electrical equipment to be purchased by the electric light department. These bids were referred to City Engineer E. Curt Miller, and meeting adjourned until 7:30 p. m. Wednesday evening, when the bids were investigated. The following demands were allowed:

EAGLE ROCK

Friends of Rollin Lee McNitt are pleased to hear of his success as Scout Master, as he is now deputy commissioner of all of the suburban districts. He received this worthy appointment just recently and Deane Hightower will assist him with the two Eagle Rock city patrols.

A week ago Saturday night about forty or fifty young people dropped in very unexpectedly at the Kolhe home on Fairmont avenue. Games, music and conversation intermingled made the evening pass altogether too quickly. As this was a farewell surprise party the guests brought their own refreshments, which were heartily enjoyed at a rather late hour.

It is reported that the Werden Grocery store, located at the end of the lar line, on Colorado boulevard and Townsend avenue, has been sold. The new owner is Mr. Daniels, who conducted the Cash Grocery, next to the bank.

It is with much pleasure that the friends and acquaintances of Miss Suzette Spangler receive this bit of interesting news, which may be new news to many who are unaware of the fact, that she is soon to become a bride. The story which makes up this romance is something like this: Led from a far eastern state to Los Angeles by a photograph, Mr. Floyd W. Baum of Illinois will take unto himself a bride in the person of Miss Suzette Spangler, whose engagement was announced recently. The bride-elect was the inspiration for the fashion show poster of last season, being chosen by Mrs. Larale Langley of this city, who is a fashion sketch artist. The wedding will be solemnized soon at the First Methodist church of Hollywood. Miss Spangler is very well known in Eagle Rock, having until about four years ago resided here with her parents at their Castle avenue home. Her father, the late Dr. J. M. Spangler, was the first pastor of the Eagle Rock M. E. church, when it opened, and the family had just returned from several years' stay in South America. Heartly congratulations are extended to these young people.

Thursday afternoon of last week the Guild of the Presbyterian church held its regular reading circle meeting at Mrs. Treadwell's, on Myrtle avenue. A pleasant time was spent doing fancy work and listening to the story which was read. Dainty refreshments were served late in the afternoon by the hostess.

Eagle Rock has more or less citizens formerly Iowans, who had been hoping for good weather on their annual picnic day, and they certainly got their wish, for Tuesday, Feb. 22, was a most perfect and glorious California winter day. The picnic took place at Eastlake Park with a "sumptuous feed" at noon and a good program was held in the afternoon. A right good time was had by all.

A social, very unusual in form, was given last Friday evening at the Presbyterian church, when everybody came dressed in old-time costumes. There were George and Martha Washington, well-known patriots, Colonial ladies and gentlemen and even the Indians of that time were represented. The evening passed very quickly, which is always so when everyone is having a good time. Wafers and punch were served by the Woman's Guild, who were in charge of this patriotic affair and to whom much credit is due.

Up to Saturday night the donations toward the million-dollar Occidental endowment fund aggregated more than one-fourth of the desired amount. A much appreciated gift of $166,666.66 from O. T. Johnson served to speed up the various teams at work. The college building called the Johnson Hall of Letters was the gift of Mr. Johnson and wife at the time the new college buildings were about to be erected. This was a total of $200,000.00 and they have given donations of various amounts in the past, besides this one. "Oxy" ought to have a few more such friends as Mr. and Mrs. Johnson who are as liberal as they.

Little Miss Louise Carey of North Central avenue was a charming hostess when she entertained a number of her schoolmates in honor of her eleventh birthday. The rooms were profusely decorated with flowers and hearts of red, so appropriate at Valentine time. This happy affair took place the Saturday before Valentine's day and covers were laid for fourteen at the elaborately decorated table.

A week ago Monday the J. J. Kolhe family moved to Los Angeles, having taken a house near 36th street. They are greatly missed by all, as they are so well known here, having built their house on Fairmont avenue 8 or 9 years ago, and had resided in this valley since. They were prominent in church work and ever faithful workers, and it is with deep regret that we should part with them. We all join in wishing the entire family success and prosperity in their home.

Miss Esther Kolhe, a student at the Union High School, will be greatly missed by her schoolmates, as she has moved to Los Angeles, where she will probably enter Los Angeles High or Manual Arts High School.

A baby boy is the recent arrival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Lindsay of Woodrow avenue.

The J. J. Kolhes have leased their large, beautiful home on Fairmont avenue, furnished, to some Los Angeles people.

Several young ladies in this community have very kindly offered their

The interesting features were the inspiring messages given by various Sunday School superintendents and the evening's program, which began at 7:30. A supper at 25 cents a plate was served and greatly enjoyed.

As was stated last week that any team reporting donations totaling $5000 was entitled to matriculate one person for each $5000 received toward the Occidental Campaign. Among the first to report was Charles Bell of Pasadena, who announced subscriptions totaling $5,350. Therefore the first "Oxy" campaign scholarship was awarded to Frank Veale of Pasadena.
